

We are preparing even more releases on the topic of COVID-19

Notice of SURS's operations during the coronavirus period

The impact of COVID-19 on our economy and society can be monitored in our releases in the new COVID-19 domain. This time we are postponing the release on energy statistics from 17 September 2020 to 6 October 2020.

After the declared end of the coronavirus (COVID-19) epidemic in Slovenia on 1 June 2020, the Statistical Office of the Republic of Slovenia is still facing some difficulties in data collection, checking and processing. The quality of data is extremely important for us, which is why we are taking care that the published statistics continue to be of the highest possible level.

DATA RELEASES

The impact of COVID-19 on our economy and society can be monitored in regular and new releases on our website. In the new COVID-19 domain, we will issue additional occasional releases on this topic. Planned releases and possible changes in release dates can be monitored in the Release Calendar.

This time we would like to inform you about one new release date:

- 6. 10. 2020: Energy statistics, Slovenia, 2019 (originally planned for 17. 9. 2020)

The release had to be postponed because we received the data from the administrative source later than planned. We apologise for any inconvenience.

The quality of the published data can be monitored in methodological materials

When publishing statistical data, we are regularly updating the corresponding metadata in methodological explanations and quality reports. Please pay attention to methodological notes in individual releases and to notes in the SiStat Database, where we are informing you if the published data are less reliable.

We will continue to monitor and analyse the impact of the current situation on statistical data while exploring the possibility of using additional sources to improve data quality.

DATA PROVIDERS

We are aware that in the current circumstances the operation of some of our partners reporting us your data is still disrupted. To be able to provide the data showing the impact of COVID-19 on our economy and society, it is vitally important that you continue to send us your data.

We also ask all selected persons receiving written invitations to participate in our surveys to respond to our request. Only with your cooperation will we be able to provide high-quality data.

In July 2020, we will also resume with data collection on individuals and households, namely in the field. The selected persons will receive a notification letter by post before the arrival of the interviewer, informing them that they were selected and inviting them to participate in the data collection. In case you would rather cooperate by phone, this option is also available. While performing their work, the authorized interviewers will follow all the prescribed safety measures.

Help and additional information is provided constantly via email:
